California Repeals Fair Housing Law

By NEIL GILBRIDE

WASHINGTON (AP) — Californians erased a law against housing discrimination in the hottest issue among hundreds of election proposals in 40 states Tuesday.

"I am disappointed," said Gov. Edmund G. Brown, "but I do not regard the election as the end of California's fight against discrimination and segregation in housing."

The state constitutional amendment that wipes out California's present fair-housing law and forbids any further legislation on the subject held a firm 3-2 margin in mounting returns.

It gives property owners the absolute right to accept or reject any buyers or renters. In another vote involving the racial issue, Maryland extended a public-accommodations law to require equal service for Negroes in motels, hotels and restaurants throughout the state. It previously applied only to the city of Baltimore and half of the state's 23 counties.

Proposals to legalize gambling were slapped down by voters in three states — California, Arkansas and Washington. Californians rejected a state-franchised lottery. Arkansas refused to legalize gambling houses in the resort city of Hot Springs, and Washington voters said no to licensing bingo, card games, punch boards and pin-ball machines.

California voters in a busy day also approved a proposal to outlaw pay television and repealed a state law requiring railroads to fill certain jobs on trains.

Huge Margin for LBJ in the Congress

By STANLEY MEISLER

WASHINGTON (AP) — The people have given President Johnson a heavily Democratic Congress that seems so snug behind his program it may evoke memories of those early New Deal Congresses that whisked through the proposals of Franklin D. Roosevelt.

The new Congress also will feature names that come from the past but may augur power in the future — Democrat Robert F. Kennedy who took away a Republican and Republican Robert Taft Jr., who took away an Ohio Senate seat from a Democrat.

Besides these and other new names in the Senate, the big story of the congressional election was the creation of a House that seemed to shed most of its ties to a Johnson program.

This came despite some spectacular Republican gains in the House. They snared seats in the once mighty Democratic Dixie-land of Alabama and Mississippi. But, for the most part, these were votes that rarely ended up on the side of Johnson legislation anyway.

The Democrats made spectacular gains of their own—upsetting Republicans, for example, in their once-safe bastion of Iowa — and these gains were sure to have heavy impact on the legislative picture. The House appeared ready to lose its role as a roadblock to Johnson's program. Continued on Page Six

Tidal Wave Sweeps Johnson to Second Term as President

'Backlash' Vote Fails to Develop

By W. B. RAGSDALE JR.

NEW YORK (AP) — American of all races, ethnic groups and economic levels joined to hand Lyndon B. Johnson one of the most lopsided presidential victories in history. Only the Deep South stood aside.

A study of election returns in selected precincts by NBC's Electronic Vote Analysis showed three major factors in Johnson's landslide win: —The so-called white backlash among ethnic groups and others upset by desegregation troubles had no significant effect.

—As expected Johnson won 88 per cent of the Negro vote, almost 20 per cent better than the Democratic total in 1960.

—Well-to-do persons normally found in the Republican camp voted for Johnson by the thousands. This "frontlash" of Republicans turning away from Sen. Barry Goldwater was a key factor as a Democratic presidential candidate carried large numbers of major suburban communities for the first time.

Johnson piled up increased margins over the 1960 vote for the late President John F. Kennedy in every area — and with almost every group of voters — in his unparalleled sweep of New England, the middle Atlantic states and the industrial Midwest.

He ran about 12 per cent higher than Kennedy in the big cities of these Northern areas and 16 to 17 per cent better elsewhere.

Here are some samples of his votes in the normally Republican suburban areas: in the New York City suburbs, Johnson received 59 per cent of the vote in selected precincts; in Buffalo, 66 per cent; in Philadelphia 70 per cent; in Philadelphia 56 Continued on Page Two

Faubus Gets 6th Term in Beating Win

By JOHN R. STARR

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Gov. Orval E. Faubus scored one of his sweetest political victories Tuesday as he defeated Republican Winthrop Rockefeller and won a sixth term.

It was a race Faubus wanted desperately to win, his last, he said, as a candidate for governor.

Faubus claimed victory shortly before 6 a.m. in an informal statement made when he called The Associated Press to check some returns.

Faubus then had a 60,000 vote lead with about 55 per cent of the ballots counted, and he said, "He can't catch me now."

Faubus said he would make a formal statement at 9:30 a.m. A newsman who called Winthrop Farm after the first Faubus statement was told that Rockefeller was still asleep and would not be disturbed.

Rockefeller went to bed at 3 a.m. "conceding nothing."

Faubus had left his headquarters about 2:30 a.m. without claiming victory. He then had a 50,000-vote margin with about 40 per cent counted. With 2,004 of 2,664 precincts reported early today the count stood: Faubus 211,820. Rockefeller 149,831. Rockefeller's chances of reversing a Faubus trend which started with the first returns dimmed as city boxes began to Continued on Page Two

LBJ Speaks Out for a United USA

By JACK BELL

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson capped his massive election victory with a call today for national unity while Republicans geared for a likely intra-party struggle for control of the defeated GOP.

Riding the crest of a record-smashing victory margin over Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona, Johnson called on his fellow Americans to "face the world as one."

The President prepared to meet at his Texas ranch with Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey of Minnesota, who will serve as his vice president. Johnson had high words of praise for his "happy warrior" running mate and said in a statement early today that Humphrey had made no mistakes in the long campaign.

The 56-year-old President, who has served 354 days since the assassination of President John F. Kennedy, said early today in Austin, Tex., that no words were adequate "to really express the feeling of this occasion."

"Most of all," he said, "I wish to be equal to your confidence and to the hopes of all of the people of America."

He said that now that the election is over Americans must "face the world as one." "I ask all those who supported me and all those that opposed me to forget our differences, because there are many more things in America that unite us than divide us." Johnson won his first elective White House term by battering down Republican bastions across the nation. Maine and Vermont fell in his column as did usually Republican Kansas. Only in the South, where he Continued on Page Two

The Election

President Johnson rides a massive tidal wave of votes to a smashing victory over Sen. Barry Goldwater. Some key Republicans survive the deluge. President Johnson, subdued in victory, says election outcome is "a mandate for unity."

Sen. Barry Goldwater's political future is cloudy as a result of President Johnson's landslide victory.

Vice President-elect Hubert H. Humphrey flies to the side of President Johnson today with an overwhelming mandate to serve "a heartbeat away from the presidency."

Rep. William E. Miller says a lack of party unity contributed to the Republican defeat.

The voters give President Johnson a heavily Democratic Congress that's likely to give kinder treatment to his programs.

Michigan's Gov. George Romney emerges as the Republicans' champion big-state vote-getter. His party otherwise has little to crow about in the governorship races.

Californians wipe out anti-discrimination housing law in a vote that tops interest in hundreds of statewide election proposals.

Americans of all races, ethnic groups and economic levels produce President Johnson's lopsided victory, a study of selected precincts shows. The so-called white backlash has little effect.

Political pollsters grin broadly as they compare their forecasts with presidential election results.

lost five states, and possibly in Arizona, did his surge falter in the sweep toward the greatest presidential victory of modern times — the largest ever in terms of votes rolled up and margin over his opponent.

It lent Goldwater, the conservative who offered "a choice, not an echo," with the limited consolation of having carried Alabama, Georgia, Louisiana, Mississippi, South Carolina, and perhaps his native Arizona.

The thundering Johnson wave hit the Republican party a shattering blow, engulfing moderates like Sen. Kenneth B. Keating in New York and conservatives like Rep. Bruce Alger of Texas.

But some party members who can be expected to take leading parts in the struggle certain to develop over control of the GOP survived the storm. Standouts among these were Gov. George Romney who won re-election as governor while Johnson was carrying Michigan handily and Rep. Robert Taft Jr., elected to the Senate while the President was winning Ohio's electoral votes, and Sen. Hugh Scott of Pennsylvania.

The extent of the far-reaching Johnson victory was shown by the count at 10 a.m.:

With 270 electoral votes needed to win, the President had collected 486 from 45 states (including the District of Columbia).

Goldwater had won five states with 47 electoral votes, led in one with 5.

The popular vote totals gave Johnson 39,688,467, Goldwater 25,008,511. This gave Johnson 61.3 per cent of the popular vote or more than the record 60.8 per cent Franklin D. Roosevelt received in 1936.

Goldwater's strategy was to try to turn out the vote in normally Republican areas, work on ethnically mixed groups in key industrial areas and a sweep of the normally Democratic South.

But 45 of the most Republican counties in the nation gave 51 per cent of their vote to Democrat Johnson.

Goldwater carried only the Deep South states of Louisiana, Alabama, Mississippi, South Carolina and Georgia. Except for Georgia, these states gave their electoral votes in 1948 to the States Rights party.

Johnson ran from 1 to 3 per cent ahead of the Kennedy total in Southern cities, suburbs and smaller towns, but trailed about 3 per cent in rural areas, where Goldwater's civil rights stand apparently had its strongest appeal.

In big Northern cities, Johnson carried 74 per cent of the vote. He ran up a 61 per cent margin in major cities of the West. Both represented increases of about 10 per cent over 1960.

The only area where Johnson trailed Goldwater badly was in the 100 or so counties of the South where Negroes are a majority of the population, but relatively few vote.

per cent; in Denver, 60 per cent. His support ran strongest in the low- and middle-income segments but also sharply trimming Republican totals among high-income voters.

Even among ethnic groups, where Goldwater strategists expected a backlash to develop, Johnson showed slight gains.

A check of selected precincts showed 79 per cent of Slavic voters going Democratic, Irish voters by 85 per cent and Italian voters by 74 per cent — all up one per cent over 1960.

Crafts of local and nearby areas will be shown at the first annual Antique Show and Collector's Fair at Washington, Arkansas, November 6-7-8.

Among the showings: handwork of the Rondo Memorial Assn. of Texarkana; creative work with bottles, Mrs. Jones, Nashville; exhibits of paintings and ceramics, Mrs. Middlebrooks, Stephens; selections from collection of 3000 bottles of many periods, Mrs. Williams, Little River Country Club; exhibits of antique silver, pressed glass, ornamental iron, from collections owned by families of Smiley, Morgan, Booker, Deaton, and Boehmer of Texarkana and a showing of Medallion Rose pattern of Chinese Porcelain, owned by Mrs. Lamar Williamson of Monticello, as well as pieces of antique silver by the same owner.

Diane Beasley and Christine Puryear of Diane's Beauty Salon attended the Arkansas Hairdresser's Convention, in Little Rock last weekend.

Farm Bureau members will hold their annual county convention on November 5, according to Autrey Wilson, president. In making the announcement, Mr. Wilson said the meeting would get underway at 7 p.m. with a pot-luck supper. Entertainment will be furnished by the Odom Quartet of the Palmos area. Mr. Wilson said the group would vote on new resolutions, elect a board of directors for 1965, elect a member ship drive chairman, make plans for attending the State convention this month and elect two delegates to the State convention.

This note from Mrs. C.E. Ferguson of Nashville: The Nashville Garden Clubs are having a "Parade of Homes" Sunday, November 15, from 1:30 to 5:30 p.m. The following homes will be opened to the public: Clyde Keaster, Arthur Corbell, James Sullivan, Charles Williams.

Henry Hudson, VA regional manager says that veterans wishing to know how to reopen their GI insurance (National Service Life Insurance) can obtain printed information at the Veterans Administration Regional Office at the Federal Building in Little Rock. Veterans unable to go to the office in person may telephone or write. The number to call is: Franklin 2-4361, ext. 5243. Actual application for reopening of the insurance cannot be made until May 1, 1965, Mr. Hudson said, but that he wanted all veterans to understand the full picture since their time to apply after that date is limited.

From Bob Cheyne, sports publicity director at the University of Arkansas: Placement specialists Tom McNelly became the ninth Razorback to reach the 100-point mark in his college career, and the first to do so without scoring a single touchdown. . . Kenny Hatfield, the fine punt returner, is nearing the 1000 yard mark in returning enemy punts for a college career. . . the west Helena senior has a new total of 58 returns for 952 yards through the Texas A & M game.

The impact of the Rockefeller defeat on the two-party effort will be difficult to assess. A lot depends on Faubus' final margin. Rockefeller supporters hoped to get at least 45 per cent of the vote.

The question also remains as to whether any effort can be measured by its failure against Faubus—the champion vote getter in Arkansas history.

Faubus ran up his margin by polling well in the rural and Delta counties, where he has always been strong, and holding his own in the cities and in several Northwest Arkansas counties in which Rockefeller hoped to write him a ticket to retirement.

All indications pointed to a record voter turnout. Most polling places had lines of voters through the day. Many ran out of ballots and ordered more. Some ran out again.

The vote in Pulaski County was so heavy that by midnight the tally was reported in only seven precincts.

Faubus voted at Huntsville, watched early returns on television at the mansion and then went to his headquarters in mid-evening. He held his fingers in a "V" for Victory sign and said, "I hope I don't have to take this down this evening."

Faubus was not in any real danger, even when 200 boxes remained to be counted in Pulaski County. Hundreds of large boxes were at the same time uncounted in counties where he was outpolling Rockefeller two and three to one.

The governor had his best percentage margin about 9 p.m. when he was leading Rockefeller two to one with about 67 per cent of the vote. His percentage slipped after that while his majority mounted.

If Faubus' final percentage holds in the area of 60 per cent, it will be his most impressive victory since 1958 when he polled 70 per cent of the vote. He got about 65 per cent in this year's Democratic primary but his three opponents were political unknowns.

His tightest race was his first one when he edged Gov. Francis Cherry in a runoff. The only other time he failed to score impressively was in the 1962 primary when he settled for 51.8 per cent in defeating five opponents.

The election climaxed the most extravagant campaign in Arkansas history. Both sides spent as if money were in endless supply. The cost is estimated at a minimum of $2 million.

He said during the campaign that, if he was defeated, he would run again in 1966. Faubus has said he definitely will not seek a seventh term two years

No. 54 Only Bill Sure of Passage

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Arkansans apparently adopted Amendment 54, the voter registration proposal, in Tuesday's election but they dealt a resounding defeat to controversial Amendment 55, the legalized gambling measure.

Four of five other constitutional proposals were defeated. The fifth, Amendment 57, trailed in the voting but could be passed if it gets strong support in late reporting boxes.

Amendment 54 trailed like the others in early returns from rural counties, but it moved into the affirmative column about 2 a.m. on votes from city boxes.

With 1,729 of 2,664 precincts reported, there were 119,158 votes for Amendment 54 and 109,885 against it.

In the winning margin holds, and the other proposals are defeated, the number will be changed and the proposal will be written into the constitution as Amendment 51.

Amendment 55, topic of one of the most vigorous and vicious campaigns ever accorded a constitutional proposal, never appeared to have a chance. Early returns ran two to one against it.

The incomplete vote showed 101,522 for the proposal and 158,287 against it.

The amendment would have legalized casino gambling in Garland County, were illegal gambling has flourished for a century. Both candidates for governor said its defeat would be taken as an indication that the people of Arkansas want gambling at Hot Springs stopped.

Amendment 54 abolishes the Faubus said Rockefeller alone spent that much.

The issues were lost in a resounding clash of personalities. Faubus set out to destroy what he called Rockefeller's "false image as a Father Christmas for Arkansas." Rockefeller attacked the Faubus political organization, talking of machine politics and election irregularities spawned by the machine.

Both candidates agreed on the basic issues—that industrial development must be accelerated, that more funds must be provided for education, that welfare benefits should be improved and that the state needs an improved rural road system.

No Comment From Ailing Eisenhower

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP)—Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower, nursing an injured back, retired for the night without commenting on President Johnson's victory.

The nation's only Republican president since 1932 followed the results of the overwhelming Democratic victory, a spokesman said, but took a sedative for his injury and went to bed without commenting.

The spokesman said Eisenhower fell against a bannister in his cottage on the Augusta National Golf Club property Monday night and hurt his back. He was treated at nearby Ft. Gordon hospital and released.

poll tax as a requirement for voting and sets up a model registration system with signatures safe guards against illegal voting.

Amendment 57, which still has a chance for passage, would permit establishment of taxing districts to support community colleges.

Amendment 51, to increase maximum salaries of state officials: For: 70,204 Against: 114,352

Amendment 52, to permit creation of taxing districts to finance industry and hospitals: For: 88,480 Against: 103,002

Amendment 53, to increase the taxing powers of cities and counties: For: 85,149 Against: 110,440

Amendment 56, to increase maximum salaries of county officials: For: 90,589 Against: 108,002

E. Germans Are Visiting in the West

By HANS NEUERBOURG FRANKFURT, Germany (AP) - The Communists for the first time let large numbers of East Germans visit the West today for tearful reunions with relatives. The visitors are old persons who no longer work.

The first group of pensioners arrived by train in central Germany from Leipzig shortly after midnight. During the next year as many as 3.2 million of them are expected to enter West Germany in the largest East-West crossing since the Iron Curtain came down at the end of World War II.

East German Communist leader Walter Ulbricht approved "Operation Oldster" last August in an apparent bid to improve relations with the Lutheran Church, which reportedly suggested the visits. The East German Press hailed the arrangement as proof of the Communist regime's "humanitarian attitude."

The pensioners, men over 65 and women over 60, had permission to remain in the West a month. The Red regime did not appear concerned over the possibility of defections, presumably because the old people are no longer a factor in East German production.

Previously, elderly East Germans were permitted to leave only if they renounced their pension payments. Now if they defect they can get West German pensions. West German officials said all who wanted it would be given asylum, but no official effort would be made to get any to defect.

Residents at Wolfsburg, the first train stop in West Germany, greeted the tired but happy travelers from Leipzig. Red Cross nurses gave them refreshments.

Meanwhile, hundreds of thousands of West Berliners are going through the wall to visit relatives in the Soviet sector of divided Berlin. Nearly 100,000 with the necessary permits made the crossing Sunday.

The Communists opened the wall last Friday for the second time since it was erected in 1961. It will remain open until Nov. 12 in the first of four visiting periods during the next year.

The Russians used the word "cosmonaut" to describe the space man.

They held on, wrestling him forward, forcing him past the corner of the building. They pushed him inside the shed, released him and sprang back. Before he could recover his balance, Craig pulled the door shut, and closed the hasp over its staple.

They stood back, breathing hard, seeing Becker's fingers poking out through the round hole in the door where a lock had once been. He pulled; he rattled the door in its frame; he pounded on the panel with his bony fists. He was bellowing to be let out when Craig and Lew went off at a run.

As they neared Eva, Becker's futile noise stopped. They stepped aboard. Craig signaled to Lew to watch the yard while he went forward. Immediately he found two important items. A rifle with a telescopic sight was leaning in a corner against the chart table. A flashlight was hanging in a clip near the binocular. He went back with both.

After making sure the rifle was loaded, he handed it to Lew. He aimed the beam of the flashlight down the companionway and played it over the raw wood of a bulkhead that had been built in amidships. The batten door was shut and fastened. Here was another hasp, and this time a padlock, closed. Craig hurried below, pounded on the door with his fist and called, "Hugo! Hugo!"

He heard a groan. Lew called tensely, "Dick!" He was pointing across the yard. The shine of a pair of headlights was a brightening along Grove Road. Craig hurried to Lew and they backed across the deck while they watched the twin beams swinging into the parking lot. The clattering of the motor told Craig it was the old green truck. Win Shepard had come back.

Craig pulled Lew away. He stuffed the flashlight into his hip pocket, then took the rifle from Lew and levered the action. They crouched behind the superstructure, their heads raised just far enough to watch.

The truck stopped. Shepard got out and walked toward the pier.

Ches Becker, after his first outburst in his cell, had been quietly waiting and listening. He had heard the noise of the truck returning. Now he was pounding his fists on the fastened door and howling for help.

Shepard's right hand darted to his hip pocket. As he brought it forward at waist level, Craig saw a glint of light on a gun. Shepard dodged aside, ran across the front of the ship and vanished around the far corner. A whine of hinges followed, then Becker's voice growling and Shepard's snapping back. Their words carried through the open stillness.

"Two of 'em!" "Who are they?" "I donno, they hit me so fast!"

"They're on that boat!" Then they were quiet. They stayed out of sight in the shadow. Craig knew that Shepard must be peering at the boat and considering his next move.

Shepard spoke again, disdainful of the possibility that he could be overheard. "My friend, which one of us slipped up?"

"I didn't do nothin' but take orders from you!" "At any rate, this tears it, old

Television and Radio

By CYNTHIA LOWRY AP Television-Radio Writer NEW YORK (AP) - It has been a long rocky road to the voting booths. And after this final rugged weekend I'm still undecided. I don't know whether I'm for Chet or Walter, for David or Howard, for Edward or Eric.

I do know, however, that like a lot of other voters-to-be I am eye- and ear-weary after eight weeks of campaigns and listening to political oratory in news shows and paid political broadcasts. The repetition got me down. I am also weary of the networks' constant promotion of their upcoming election night coverage.

The 1960 presidential year had excitement and drama for television viewers, largely because of the so-called "great debates." There seems to be a general feeling this political season that our campaign periods are just too long - for candidates and voters.

Trade rumors persist that CBS is on the verge of some drastic activity relating to some of its expensive dramatic shows which are having audience troubles.

Two of them - "The Reporter" and "Mr. Broadway," the creative children of Jerome Weidman and Garson Kanin respectively - continue to limp along its silly cliches of stories.

Friday night's "Reporter" was a routine retread about exposing a fake charity. "Mr. Broadway," Saturday told a predictable tale about the glamorous, temperamental actress who throws things when irked. Even Tammy Grimes couldn't do much for the script.

Armed Man on LBJ Path Taken COMMACK, N.Y. (AP) - Robert E. Babcock, 39, seized in a car parked along President Johnson's Saturday motorcade route on Long Island - with a telescopic rifle on the floor and a shotgun in the trunk, both unloaded - has been ordered to because an overdose can kill. Casey said the danger of amphetamines is that they promote aggressive, antisocial behavior. Casey said the drugs are too easy to obtain, and claimed some pharmacists sell pills without prescriptions.

Police said Babcock, of Blue Point, Long Island, told them he had boasted to tavern acquaintances he could sit along the presidential route with his gun and not be spotted.

such controversial legislation as medical care for the aged, the Appalachian poverty program, and area redevelopment projects.

Kennedy, the 38-year-old brother of the late President John F. Kennedy, took a Senate seat by pushing aside the reelection bid of Kenneth B. Keating, a white-haired Republican who steadfastly refused to endorse Barry Goldwater for president but still fell under the Johnson tide in New York.

Joining Kennedy in the Senate was another young man who swept a Republican incumbent out of office — 36-year-old Joseph D. Tydings of Maryland, a close friend of the Kennedy family and the stepson of former Maryland Sen. Millard Tydings.

Kennedy, Tydings and Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., 32, the youngest brother of the late President who easily won reelection, could form a new, powerful Kennedy swing both in the Senate and in the Democratic party.

But this new wing will not include one whom some observers once considered a sure member — Pierre Salinger. The portly former press secretary of both Presidents Kennedy and Johnson — already a senator from California by appointment — was defeated by George Murphy, the former Hollywood song and dance man, who stopped Salinger's bid to win the California seat by election.

The Republicans had more than Murphy to show as a new face in the Senate. Taft, the grandson of President William Howard Taft and the son of three-time presidential aspirant Robert A. Taft, took his father's old seat in Ohio by defeating incumbent Sen. Stephen A. Young.

By early morning, the Democrats had won 26 of the 35 Senate seats at stake, taking 3 seats from the Republicans. The Republicans had won 8 seats, taking 2 from the Democrats. Democrat Sen. Howard Cannon of Nevada was leading in the last Senate race.

This would give the Democrats at least 66 seats in the new Senate—the same as they had going into Tuesday's election.

With the final totals still to come in the House, the Democrats had won 264 of the 435 seats, a clear majority. In doing so, they took away 32 Republican places. The Republicans had won 121 seats, gaining 9 from the Democrats.

Despite the Republican gains in the South—they picked up five seats in Alabama and one in Mississippi—they dropped their only two Texas House seats. Both Reps. Bruce Alger and Ed Foreman were upset by Democrats in the President's home state.

The Democrats, besides their victories in New York and Maryland, picked up another Senate seat in New Mexico, when Rep. Joseph M. Montoya, a veteran of eight years in the House, defeated the Republican incumbent Sen. Edwin L. McChesney.

The Republicans were disappointed when Bud Wilkinson, who won so many football games as coach at the University of Oklahoma, failed to win his first contest for public office. An Oklahoma state senator, Fred R. Harris, defeated Wilkinson in the race for Oklahoma's U.S. Senate seat.

Several familiar Republican names will be gone from the House list next year, including Rep. Ben Jensen, R-Iowa, the ranking Republican on the powerful House Appropriations Committee. Others include Reps. Louis C. Wyman of New Hampshire, John R. Pillion of New York, and Earl Wilson of

Artificial Legs Don't Stop Player

By KEN CONWAY

BARRACKVILLE, W. Va. (AP) — Jack Rice is an average teen-ager except for one thing — he plays football with artificial legs.

Jack, 16, lost his legs just below the knees seven years ago when he was run over by a Gulf, Mobile & Ohio Railroad freight train near Nitwood, Ill. Despite that, he has been a regular on the Barrackville High School football team for three seasons. A Circuit Court jury in Chicago awarded Jack $115,000 Monday in a personal-injury suit against the railroad.

Jack moved with his family to this northern West Virginia coal-mining community three years ago. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. George Rice, who also have five daughters.

After the accident, doctors fitted Jack with a plastic sleeve just below each knee, over the remaining part of the lower leg, and joined it with an artificial rubber foot.

Each limb has only one joint, at the arch of the foot. The artificial limbs are lined with rubber socks. Regular size eight shoes fit over the artificial feet. "They don't bother me a bit," Jack says. "I'm just not quite as fast as some of the other Indiana. Missing Democrats will include Reps. Arthur Winstead of Mississippi, George Grant of Alabama, Kenneth Roberts of Alabama and George Huddleston of Alabama.

Although Keating was defeated, some moderate Republicans survived the Johnson landslide, including Sen. Hugh Scott of Pennsylvania and Sen. Hiram Fong of Hawaii. Rep. John V. Lindsey of New York and a number of other House Republicans who refused to endorse Goldwater won re-election.

The gains by Northern Democrats and the losses by Southern Democrats indicate a greater chance for success than ever before next year when Democratic liberals in the House try to purge those Democratic Southerners who supported Goldwater in the campaign.

Guernsey Wins 1 From Spring Hill

Spring Hill won a tight game in the senior boys game, with a 86-84 victory. Kidd of Spring Hill was high with 40 and McCormack 16. Guernsey's high pointers were Faulkner, 30, and Coleman 22.

In California and other states is the center of a bitter dispute between management, seeking to slash manpower, and unions trying to preserve jobs.

North Dakota and Arizona also repealed train-crew laws. Louisiana voters established the nation's first code of ethics for state officials. It was one of 41 state constitutional amendments crowding the state ballot.

New Hampshire voters apparently approved amendments to reapportion the state legislature, giving more weight to votes of urban residents.

But Florida voters thumbed down a reapportionment amendment which had already been ruled inadequate by the Supreme Court.

Trimble Is Elected in a Squeaker

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

FORT SMITH, Ark. (AP) — Rep. J. W. Trimble apparently defeated Republican Jerry Hinshaw of Springdale in Tuesday's general election, but he didn't have an easy time of it.

With 458 of 653 precincts reported, the count showed Trimble with 34,536 votes and Hinshaw with 28,118.

Hinshaw stayed on the heels of the veteran Democratic congressman in the early tabulation. Trimble started to pull away at 9 p.m., when he led by only 39 of 3,000 votes. His lead mounted steadily through the long night of slow counting.

There was moral victory in defeat for Hinshaw, who yielded to no candidate for whatever office in enthusiasm for campaigning. He gave Trimble the hardest race he has had since he first won his 3rd District seat in 1944.

Trimble, 70, won an 11th term. He did it with his patented "soft sell" campaigning in the face of a spirited attack by Hinshaw on his voting record.

Hinshaw, 47, had youth and vigor on his side. He said Trimble was far too liberal to be serving Arkansas and suggested that the congressman was too old to properly serve the district.

Trimble said in response that he had never cast a vote he was ashamed of, that he made 98 per cent of the congressional roll calls in 1964 and that he would not have run again if his health had not been good enough to let him do his job.

It was Hinshaw's first political race. He resigned as vice president of Arbor Acres Farms, a poultry firm, to campaign. He is expected to go back into the poultry business.

Classen's Boast: I Pick 'em

By HAROLD CLAASSEN

Associated Press Sports Writer NEW YORK (AP) — Getting 69.5 per cent of the votes will win you many an election. But that kind of an average in football picking merely proves you have been in Tokyo, for five weeks because of the Olympics. Last week's gridiron gymnastics found a .709 percentage. That brought the season's figures to .695.

Here are this week's vote-getters:

Alabama over Louisiana State—This could be the best team ever produced by Coach Bear Bryant of Alabama, and he has been in the business since World War II. David Ray too versatile.

Notre Dame over Pittsburgh — Everyone is raving about the Notre Dame passing attack of John Huarte to Jack Snow but did you know that the Irish defense this season has limited six foes to a total of five touchdowns?

Ohio State over Penn State—Normally the Buckeyes don't concentrate on non-Big Ten foes, but with an unbeaten season in prospect they'll grind down the sub-par Nittany Lions. Arkansas over Rice—The Owl offense has come apart and should be further blunted by the unbeaten Arkansas array.

Oregon State over Indiana—The home field gives the West Coast leaders a narrow edge.

Nebraska over Kansas—Despite the heroics of Kansas' Gale Sayers, the defensive-minded Huskers will extend their winning streak to 15.

Syracuse over Army—Floyd Little will run the Cadets ragged in this one.

Michigan over Illinois—Coach Bump Elliott of Michigan, usually beats brother Pete, coach of Illinois, and there is no indication of a change in the script.

Texas over Baylor—Ernie Koy and the strong Texas defense will prove too much.

Princeton over Harvard—The final Big Three round-robin starts for Princeton's great fullback, Cosmo Iacavazzi.

Purdue over Michigan State—The Boilermaker sophomores have become of age.

Georgia Tech over Tennessee — However, Tech must stop thinking about the Alabama game a week away.

In an effort to draft a statement that will analyze what the overwhelming defeat means to the Republican party — and to his own conservative political philosophy.

Goldwater went to bed Tuesday night as the size of the landslide mounted.

Defying tradition, he chose not to concede.

"He wants to analyze the vote," said press secretary Paul F. Wagner.

But campaign director Denison Kitchell went to the brink of concession.

"It doesn't look like we're going to win this round," he said. "We have to wait for four years but we're going to get this government back where Goldwater, who first tasted political defeat in New Hampshire's presidential primary last March, swallowed his biggest dose in silence."
